CURED OF CONSUMPTION.

Many years ago, whilst residing in Philadelphia, I had progressed gradually into the last stage of Pulmonary Consumption All hopes of my recovery being dissipated, I was advised by my physician, Dr Parrish, to remove into the country. Moorestown, N. J., being my native place, I was removed thither. My father and his family had lived and died there—and died of Pulmonary Consumption.—On my arrival I was put to bed, where I lay for many weeks in what was deemed a hopeless condition. Dr. Thornton, who had been my father's family physician, and had attended him in his last illness, was called to see me. He thought my case entirely beyond the reach of medicine, and decided that I must die, and gave me one week to arrange my temporal affairs. In this apparently hopeless condition, I heard of the remedies which I now make and self. It seemed to me that I could feel them, working their way, and penetrating every them working their way, and penetrating every nerve, fibre, and tissue of my system. nerve, fibre, and tissue of my system.

My lungs and liver put on a new action, and the morbid matter which for years had accumulated and irritated the different organs of the body, was eliminated, the tubercles on my lungs ripened, and I expectorated from my lungs as much as a pint of yellow offensive matter every morning. As this expectoration of matter subsided, the fever abared, the pain left me; the cough ceased to harass me and the exhausting night sweats were no longer known, and I had refreshing sleep, to which I had long been a stranger. My appetite now began to return, and at times I found it difficult to restrain myself from eating too much; with this return of health, I gained in strenth, and now am fleshy. I am now a healthy man, with a large healed cicatrix in the middle lobe of the right lung and the lower lobe hepatised with complete adhesion of the pleura. The left lung is sound and the upper lobe of the right one is in a tolerable healthy condition.

Consumption at that time was thought to be an incurable disease, by every one, physician as well as those who were unlearned in medicine—especialas those who were unlearned in medicine—especially such cases as were reduced to the condition I was in This induced many people to believe my recovery only temporary. I now prepared and gave medicine to consumptives for some time, and made many wonderful cures; and the demand increased so rapidly, that I determined to offer them to the public, and devote my undivided attention to lung diseases. In truth, I was next to forced to it, for people would send for me, far and near, to ascertain whether their cases were like mine.

For many years, in confunction with my principal

For many years, in conjunction with my principal flice in Philadelphia, I have been making regular rofessional visits to New York, Boston, Baltimore professional visits to New York, Boston, Baltimore and Pittsburg.

For many years past, I have made as many as five hundred examinations, weekly, with the "Respirometor." For such examination my charge is three dollars, and it enables me to give each patient the true condition of his disease, and tell him frankly whether he will get well.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, that they try to do too much; they give medicines to stop the cough, to stop the night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive system, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient dies.

The Pulmonic Syrup is one of the most valuable medicines known. It is nutrient, powerfully tonic and healing in itself. It contains no opium, yet it loceans the phiegm in the bronchial tubes, and nature throws it off with little exertion; one bottle frequently cures an ordinary cold; but it will be well first to take a dose of Schenck's Mandrake Pills to cleanse the stomach. The Pulmonic Syrap is readily digested and absorbed into the blood to which it imparts its healing properties. It is one of the best preparations of iron in use; it is a powerful tonic of itself; and when the Seaweed Tonic dissolves the muous in the stomach, and is carried dissolves the muous in the stomach, and is carried. dissolves the muous in the stomach, and is carried off by the aid of the Mandrake Pills, a healthy flow gastric juice, good appetite, and a good digestion of gastric juice, good appetite, and a good digestion follows.

The Seaweed Tonic is a stimulent, and none other is required when it is used. It is pure and pleasant; no bad effects like when using Bourbon Whisky, which disorders the stomach, torpors the liver, locks up all the secretions, turns the blood into water, dropsy sets in, and the patient dies suddenly.

Bourbon Whisky is recommended now-a-days by almost every physician. Many patients that visit my rooms, both male and female, are stupified with this poison. The relief is temporary. If they cough, they take a little whisky; if they feel weak and feeble, they take a little whisky; if they cannot sleep, they take a little whisky; and they go on in this way enquiring more and more until they are bloated up and imagine they are getting fleshy. The stomach, liver, and digestive powers are completely destroyed, and they loose their appetite for food.—No one was ever cured of Consumption by this process, where cavities have been formed in the lungs. A little stimulent is frequently beneficial to consumptives, such as pure brandy or good wines—in many cases, London porter or brown stout, in moderate quantities; but Bourbon whisky hastens on, instead of curing Consumption.

The SEAWEED TONIC produces lasting results, thoroughly invigorating the stomach and digestive system, and enabling it to eliminate and make into healthy blood the food which may be used for that purpose. It is so wonderful in its effects that a wine glass full will digest a hearty meal, and a little of it taken before breakfast will give a tone to the stomach which few medicines possess the power of doing.
